Since 1968, Burtch Construction has been providing Central California with asphalt products and services that exceed their customer's needs and expectations. They have served customers throughout Central California, although most of their work is primarily in Kern County, where they focus on private, commercial and public works projects. Known for their asphalt rejuvenation, fog sealing, road oiling and dust control services, Burtch Construction has seen many changes in products, techniques and equipment over the past 30 years. They recently took delivery of their third Vogele asphalt paving machine from Nixon-Egli Equipment Co., one of their most valued equipment distributors.

"Our new Vogele Vision 5203-2 paving machine gets rave reviews from our operators," comments Brenn Burtch, President, Burtch Construction. "When it came time to buy a new paving machine we demo'd all the brands. Our operators chose the Vogele machine because of its ease of operation and maintenance. They also love the mat it puts down and how well it works with our laser positioning system. This is our third Vogele paving machine and we continue to trust in this brand because of their proven reputation for manufacturing superior paving machines."

"The service we've received from the entire Nixon-Egli team has been unsurpassed. We had a slight problem with the paver and could not figure out what was going on. Nixon-Egli sent their service team out on three separate occasions to work with us, and we are located 3-hours from their nearest location. We finally pinpointed the problem and it had nothing to do with the machine, just how we were transporting it. Once we remedied this, everything was smooth sailing. Our Nixon-Egli sales representative Chris Doring has also been invaluable to us, he is a great communicator and always there to answer any question we have. We are extremely pleased with Nixon-Egli and Vogele and plan on remaining with the Vogele brand now and in the future."
