C.T.I. currently employs 26 employees with Brianna Trump Borg serving as the CFO and Cindy Trump as the company President. The company's success is due to the exceptional team members that contribute so much every day. "I believe that we have the best in the industry working here at C.T.I. I also believe that we offer the best equipment available and it is both our human and mechanical assets that set us apart from the pack," says Cindy Trump.

C.T.I. has a large fleet of cold planing and milling machines, 14 of which are Wirtgen's purchased from Nixon-Egli Equipment Co. C.T.I. purchased a new Wirtgen WR 240i cold recycler and soil stabilizer last year and yet another just recently. "We bought our first Wirtgen grinder from Nixon-Egli Equipment in 1997 and have been buying from them ever since," says Trump. "We deal directly with James Nixon and he has always treated us right."

The WR 240i is the all-rounder of the Wirtgen fleet. Thanks to its large working width and working depth and its high milling output and mixing capacity. The WR 240 / WR 240i offers maximum flexibility for all soil stabilization and cold recycling applications.

Bill Bell is an estimator and superintendent for C.T.I. and he is also sold on the Wirtgen machines. "The WR 240i is the most efficient and most operator friendly machine in the business," says Bell. "We update our fleet every five years and Nixon-Egli has always provided us with quick parts turnaround and the best service around, which is vital to the success of our business."
