Established in 2001, Precision Cold Planing is a full service milling, pulverization and soil stabilization company that works for everyone from small mom and pop companies to large corporations. Precision Cold Planing does just what their name suggests on roads, parking lots and other asphalt surfaces throughout Southern California and beyond. They have become well known in the industry for their emphasis on improving the integrity of the base layer by working as a team and building partnerships with their clients. This customer focused philosophy results in better productivity and profit for everyone involved. Precision Cold Planing owns a fleet of five milling machine, two of which are Wirtgen and three soil stabilizers, including the new Wirtgen 240i. They also own and operate an entire fleet of support equipment ready for service at a moments notice.

Precision Cold Planing recently took delivery of a brand new Wirtgen 240i soil stabilizer machine from Nixon-Egli Equipment Co. Rob Rozhon is the President of Precision Cold Planing and Bill Bell is the Division Manager. Rob points out that they purchased their new Wirtgen 240i because they were so impressed with its advanced technology, including the state-of-the-art computerized controls, as well as the fully carb compliant and extremely fuel-efficient engine. "To be honest, I was sold on another brand until I took a trip to Germany with our sales representative Steve Kekich and product support rep, Mike Burns from Nixon-Egli. I was able to see first hand all of the benefits that are carefully manufactured into each and every machine," says Rozhon. "Our operators love the ease of operation and we appreciate the cost efficiency and increased production we get from our Wirtgen machines."

Precision Cold Planing owns several Wirtgen machines and they have worked with Nixon-Egli Equipment Co. for several years. "Steve Kekich is an excellent sales representative and he is always there when we need him with excellent follow-up after the sale," says Bell. "Mike Burns continually goes above and beyond the call of duty with unprecedented product support. We have even called on him in the middle of the night to help us trouble shoot and walk through mechanical issues. Nixon-Egli has been a good, reliable business partner and we appreciate their support."
